

Directions: You have heard about the CART analogy of the first 4 things to think about to decide if a site is good for you. Now think specifically about SS and try to brainstorm 4-5 other things that would make a site good, especially for a social studies project.

Why are we doing this?

Along with the CART questions, you can use whatever we put here as part of your analysis of "useful" or "not useful" sources of information.

Reminder:

Current- Is the information up to date? Does it need to be?

Accessible- Do you understand the reading level?

Relevant- Does it answer the specific questions you need to answer?

Trustworthy- Do you know the source? Is it someone you can trust? How do you know?
